

Lauren McFarland
Elementary Education

“I was really drawn to the Marsal School because of its emphasis on field-based learning and the prioritization of student well-being. From my first semester in the school my junior year, I was placed in a classroom where I was surrounded by extremely influential mentor teachers and professors who always had my best interests in mind and who were ready to offer me guidance or advice whenever needed.”

Bachelor’s Degree with Elementary Teacher Certification

OVERVIEW

The elementary teacher education program at the University of Michigan allows students to earn a Bachelor’s degree in education while gaining real-world teaching experience in local classrooms with the support of a site-based mentor teacher and university field instructor. As a student, you will join the tight-knit Marsal community where you and a small cohort of your peers will attend courses taught by educators who are themselves teachers and leaders in the field of education. You will work closely with mentor teachers and students as you apply teaching practices that are at the forefront of teacher education. When our students are recommended to the State of Michigan for elementary teacher certification, they bring with them an approach to teaching that advances educational justice and seeks to transform the learning experience for all students.

WHY TEACH?

Graduates lead fulfilling and rewarding careers sharing their love for learning. As they share this passion, they positively affect the lives of generations of children and youth. Our school-wide diversity, inclusion, justice, and equity (dije) initiative informs both our curriculum and the approaches that our graduates take to teaching and learning. Through this lens, our graduates are reshaping the landscape of education and promoting access and equity in schools and communities. We encourage you to pursue your passion with us, and start making a difference one child at a time.

PROGRAM OUTCOMES

- Students and alumni receive career services support with their job searches.
- Graduates are highly sought after by school districts nationally and globally.
- 100% of our students secure positions within 4 months of graduation.
